WASRINGTON, November 17 .- For days past the denizens of a fashionable up-town botel have been discussing with bated breath the details of a candal "way, way up," socially. FOLGER'S FINANCIAL SCHEMES. WASHINGTON, November 17.— It is ru-nored as a probability that Secretary Folger nual report that measures be taken for the reuntil 1907 and 1891 respectively. It is said that he does not favor the proposition to buy these bonds in open market, and is inclined to submit all questions relative to their redemption to congress. It is also said that the secretary is not disposed to take any action in regard to the currency sixes, but will submit the proposition concerning them to congress. Another report widely circulated to-day is that a call for $17,000,000 continued fives will be made about the end of November. Secretary Folger dectines to answer any questions in regard to the various statements, and it is therefore impossible to verify them at pres-

Washington, November 17.—The superin tendent of the census is attempting to do a singular thing in the way of publication. He is about to publish a compendium of the census of 1880 to present to congress during the coming season. It seems that the plan was of rather sudden conception, because the special agents were only notified a month or six weeks ago that they must have their statistics ready by the 15th of the present month for this compendium or appendix.

It has been the custom heretofore to publish a volume of results of enumeration and various kinds of statistical information collected after all the various reports upon the separate subjects were ready. This compen-dium has been a sort of handy volume for public use by those who did not care for deailed statements. Even the enumeration of copulation for the census of 1880 is not com-leted. The actual count of individuals, the ivity and sex, has been determined, but are still at work upon the tables show, if ever completed, the occupa trades and professions of the people behind. Mr. Porter has practically shaken the dust of the census office from his feet and will have nothing more to do with it except to put the finishing touches to his it except to put the finishing touches to his remaining reports. Those who have not left are dissatisfied and express regret at having ever accepted responsible positions in the bureau and for not resigning at the time General Walker went. It will be complete in no field of investigation and cannot be correct in its statements of lines of work only partly already completed up to the time it will go to press. Census officials say that the volume will be useless provided a complete compendium is ever to be published of the work, because of the omission of the result of many branches of investigation and of the

In the face of an epidemic which unnerves the bra-vest men, Sergeant McGaurin attended promptly and quietly to his station duties, asked neither favors, change, additional help, nor relief, but maintained an unbroken series of observations which are of great value in the study of the development and progress of the epidemic. The peruvian ex-dictator.

Washington, November 17.—Don Niclas De Peirola, ex-dictator of Peru, arrived here to-day. A New York associated press reporter interviewed him, but the net result was the statement that while she should be happy to see the head of our state should be happy to see the head of our state department he had not come here for that purpose. He could add nothing to the statement already published in regard to the object of his visit to the United States. He will remain here some days.

The afternoon was occupied with the examination of three occupied with the examination of three pilots, Isaac D. Gough, Cove Holmes and Daniel E. The substance of their evidence was that the river, in their opinion, had not been improved during the last twenty years beyond the taking out of spaces and the part. beyond the taking out of snags and the put-ting up of government lights. THE COMING CONTEST OVER THE SPEAKERSHIP. Randall Promises to Make no Fuss if He Cannot Get the Gavel Easily-Why Westerners Prefer Car isle-The Elements Entering into the Contest-The Presidency, Etc. New York, November 17 .- Samuel J. Randall, Senator Vest and Congressman Frank Hurd were in the city to-day. "I find this talk about prospective democratic blunders a little ridiculous," said the first named. "Not that the democracy is absolutely past blundering-every political party is liable to commit errors occasionally-but that the possibility of its doing so is a very poor straw for the republicans to cling to. So far this year, at any rate, the blundering has been all the other way, not only in this state but all over the union. In Ohio the republicans blundered by advocating a mild kind of prohibition, which, while it failed to satisfy the extreme antitemperance element, altogether estranged the Germans. In Pennsylvania their slunders have been too numerous to mention, and in Massachusetts—well, you have only to read the published interviews with General Butler to know how they managed things there. In view of all this and of the perfect harmony

"Then you believe in ultimate democratic Well, I believe that the prospects for the democracy are brighter at present than they have been in a very long time. In fact, I do believe we will carry the elections of 1884." Speaking of the contest for speaker in the forty-eighth congress, Senator Vest, before Speaking of the contest for speaker in the forty-eighth congress, Senator Vest, before leaving for Washington at noon, said that "Every member from Missouri, save one, is for Carlisle. When I say one," continued Senator Vest, "I mean Judge Buckner. I say this because he has always been a warm supporter of Sam Randall. I do not know, however that Judge Buckner will support however, that Judge Buckner will support Mr. Randall this time. I do know if he does, he will do it in opposition to the wishes of those who elected him."

"Then why do you favor Mr. Carlislie, of Kentucky, for speaker, as I take it you do from what you say?

'Because he is a broad-guage man. Carlisle is a man not hampered by any narrow views upon any subject. He is a man who is liberal and conservative on all questions. He is a man of large brain, and not at all vain in anything. He will, if elected speaker, and he will be, as sure as he lives, so form his committees as to give satisfaction to all sections; whereas, if Sam Randall was to be chosen, he would do as he has done in the past, organize the house committees in the past, organize the house committees in the interest of a high protective tariff and the monopolies of the country, which would re-sult in the defeat of the democratic party in 1884. You will observe that Mr. Randall, in the formation of his committees in the forty-fourth and forty-sixth congresses, so organiz-ed them as to completely disgust the people, and we lost not only the house but the presi-dency by his bullheadedness in the interest of eastern monopolists. However, I do not think it necessary to discuss the speakership, for the reason that I am satisfied that Carlisle will get in on the first ballot in the democrat-ic cancus."

Senator Vest thinks that John G. Thompson senator vest thinks that John G. Inompson should be made seargeant-at-arms, and exCongressman Stenger, of Pennsylvania, should be made clerk. Of Stenger, Mr. Vest said: "He is a man of ability, character and standing as a citizen, lawyer and politician. He is a good organizer and comes from the right section." Vest thinks that the next depresent of ticket will be Cleveland and Montager and Montage ocratic ticket will be Cleveland and Mc

Congressman Hurd had no doubt that much of the attention of the next congress would be devoted to the tariff. The present congress of the attention of the next congress would be devoted to the tariff. The present congress would not do much in the way of legislating on that question as so many members were going out to make room for democrats that they would not attempt any serious legisla-tion. Mr. Hurd thinks that the next congress will settle the tariff question one way or the other. For his part he is an uncompromising advocate of free trade, and believes this question will be the leading one in the next presidential campaign. He says that a very strong free trade party will be found in the next congress, especially from the south and west. Speaking of the prospects of the democracy for 1884, Mr. Hurd said they were cellent. He hoped to be able to witness inauguration of a democratic president in

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY

Washington, November 17.—There is an impression in the minds of a great many peole that the democratic majority in the next nouse of representatives will be split into two waring factions at the beginning of the sesion over the contest for speaker. A well-in formed Pennsylvania democrat, who is a peronal friend of Mr. Randall, made the following statement to your correspondent to-day apropos of the foregoing opinion: "There apropos of the foregoing opinion: There will be no factional fight in the democratic majority over the election of speaker, because Mr. Randall regards the unity of the party in the house as of much more importance than the choice of any man for speaker. If he cannot be elected without dividing the majority into factions, he will step aside and invite Mr. Carlisle to. he will step aside and invite Mr. Carlisle to the place. It seems to me that the talk about electing a free trade speaker being the death-knell of the democratic party can only come from people with short memories. When the democrats came into power in the forty-fouth congress, Mr. Kerr, a free trader, was elected speaker, and Mr. Morrison, also a free trader, was made chairman of the committee on ways and means. The organization of the house in this manner was followed by the election of Samuel J. Tilden as president of the United States."

SALT LAKE CITY, November 17.—The Edwards committee appointed Judge Goodwin, Colonel Sells and D. C. McLaughlin, Gentiles, and Judge Dusenbury and Frank Richards, Mormons, to constitute a canvassing board. The commission over-rule the protest on the ground that the tick-kets were not in violation of the law of the territory or the order of the commissioner, and that it is not specifically charged and proved that Cain is actually a polygamist Raproved that Cain is actually a polygamist. Before the certificate was issued Vanzile protested against its issue on the ground that by the organic act the secretary must canvass the votes for delegate and the governor issue the certificate, and that the returns were incom-plete; but this protest was also overruled by the commissioner and the certificate was issued. The commissioner has sent a full report of its proceedings to Secretary Teller.

Invasion of a Horde.

Washington, November 17.—The following washington, November II.—Ine following important telegram from Peter Ronan, agent at Flathead Indian Agency, Montans, was received at the Indian office this morning: An immense crowd of railroad constructors now at work west of the reservation, in charge of J. L. Hallett, consisting of 7,400 men, with camp followers, gamblers, ex-convicts, lewd women, etc., are rapidly advancing to the borders of the reservation, accompanied by portable saloons, gambling houses, etc. Merchants and traders of all descriptions are also advancing with the construction party, and when the border of the reservation is reached the question will arise whether this trade can be continued in an Indian country. I will require from your office some instructions of any modifi-cation should you propose such, in regard to intercourse laws. It is evident that this vast army of laborers must be supplied while at work on the reservation, and if your in-structions imply a strict conformity to the intercourse laws governing Indian reservations, regularly licensed traders of the reserve should have timely notice to provide sup plies which will meet the exigences of case. I will at all events require a military force to keep back the traders, shop-keepers, saloons, etc., who have followed up the construction party named. If decided that the agency-licensed traders alone shall be allowed to do business on the reserve, with military force I apprehend no danger of dif ficulty in keeping the whisky traders off the reservation; but in regard to prohibition of saloons, clothing and necessary supplies by shop-keepers now with this army of workingsounds strange to hear the republicans con-soling themselves with the thought that their bad outlook for 1884 will be changed by a

GROSSLY WRONGED.

General Grant's Opinion of the Case of General Fitz John Porter. NEW YORK, November 17 .- In the North American Review, which is published to-day, is an article from the pen of General U. S. Grant on the case of Fitz John porter. He reviews at some length the second battle of Bull Run, and concludes: "It will always be a pleasure to me, as well as a duty, to be the instrument, even in the small degree, of set-ting right any man who has been grossly wronged, especially if he has risked life and reputation in defense of his country. I feel. as stated on a previous occasion, a double interest in this particular case, because directly after the war, as general of the army when might have been instrumental in having jus tice done to Goneral Porter, and later as president of the United States, when I certainly could have done so, I labored under the firm conviction that he was guilty; that the facts of the receipt of the 4:30 order were as found by the court, and that the position of the troops and numbers were as given in the first of these diagrams. Having become better informed, I at once voluntarily gave, as I have continued to give, my earnest efforts to impress the minds of my countrymen with the justice of this case, and to secure from our government, as far as it could grant it, the restitution due to General Fitz John Porter.

Nobody could be found who was able or willing to offer a plausible explanation for this wholesale change in the clerical force of the offices. The clerks themselves were apparently at a loss to account for it. The decapitated clerks loudly protest that the removals were influenced by the course they took in the recent election. They had all been recognized as favorable to the Jovernor Cornell. Three or four of them a also said to strongly affiliate with John F. Smyth. Mr. Blampied is a brother-in-law of Edward M. Killed at a Test Exhibition

NEW YORK, November 17.—A water tower lesignated for use in the fire department of this city, while being tested in the Battery Park this morning was overturned and killed one man, mortally wounding another. The tower was introduced to the notice of the commissioners by Abner Greenleaf, of Balti more, Md. All the fire commissioners and many members of the department were present at the exhibition. The man killed was struck by a section of the pipe attached to the tower. His neck was broken, his skull crush-ed and his legs fractured. He was about thirty-five years old, and his name and residence are unknown. George H. Hair had his skull fractured and will probably die.

There are many things better than success and I have most of them."

Tossed About by an Explosion. CINCINNATI, November 17.—A boiler on the remises of Peter Reuhl & Co., picture frame manufacturers, on Sycamore street, near Seventh, burst this afternoon, causing a panic among the occupan's of the upper stories of the five-story building. The building was set on fire, and the floor above the engine was blown to pieces and part of the wall blown out. Louis Meyer, helper of the foreman, was thrown into the street and fatally injured. Frank Bitner, one of the employes, was badly scalded, and Christ Geiz, Albert Post and Frank Weiss were slightly injured.

Ready for the strike.
CLEVELAND, O., November 17.—The opera rs and representatives here of the coal mine in Massillon, Akron and Mahoning districts, will not concede to the advance demanded by the miners. They say there is plenty of coal on hand, and the prices of labor are too high now, and a large proportion of the mines were about to shut down this winter irrespective of the strike. The operators say the miners may work while the mines are operated, or they may stop as soon as they choose, but they apprehend no serious lockout:

NEW YORK. November 17.-The prevalence of a heavy auroral storm is reported throughout the entire country and has resulted in an almost complète interruption to telegraphic communication, which it is impossible to maintain more than a few seconds uninterrupted. The storm is said to be the fiercest known for a long time. Reports from New England indicate that a heavy snow storm set n at an early hour this morning. The earth is already covered with snow to a depth of several inches. Experienced telegraphers say it is the worst storm of the kind that has occurred for many years. The few wires that are working are continually liable to disturb-ance, and it is almost impossible to send or reextends throughout the United States and the eastern provinces of Canada, and is especially severe in its effects on cable transmission. Washington, November 17.—The electrical storm of to-day seems to have extended all over the United States and Europe. No reports have been received beyond the continent of Europe. Communication between London and continent was much delayed, and at times wholly interrupted. Around and at times wholly interrupted. Around New York it ceased between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, but has again been felt at night. It was felt as early as 4 o'clock this morning west of Omaha. At Chicago at one time to-day communication was wholly suspended. The switch board in the Western Union telegraph office there was set on fire several times, and much damage was done to the telegraphic apparatus. From Milwaukee a report comes that a volunteer electric current was at one time strong enough to light up the electric lamp.

LOST LIFE AND BROKEN BONE.

The Bodies of Two Drowned Women Found-Fatal Explosions. New York, November 17.—This morning the bodies of Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, aged 81 years, and Mrs. Harriet Taylor, 41 years old, who were drowned last night by the sinking of the barge Saginaw, (not the Signal as before reported) by the steamer City of Worcester, were recovered from East river. The bodies of Captain Taylor's two children have not yet been found. The pilots of the tugboat Sam-uel J. Lennox, and City of Worcester respectvely accuse the other of having caused the accident. A strict investigation is to be made o fix the responsibility.
RICHMOND, Va., November 17.—In Penna

The Title to Canonchet PROVIDENCE, November 17.—In the United States circuit court to-day, counsel for William Sprague filed an answer in the suit of F. D. Moulton, agent Z. Chafee and William Sprague for disclosure of the title to the Canonchet estate, and to turn over the prop-erty to the plaintiff. The answer sets forth that Sprague's title to the estate in question was derived by purchases in 1862, 1864, 1866 and 1869, and by quiet possession for twenty years, and claims the invalidity of the trust deed,

THE JOYCE TRIALS IN IRELAND. tria and Russia.

DUBLIN, November 17.—Patrick Casey has been found guilty of the murder of Bridget Joyce and sentenced to death. The jury were out only eleven minutes. Casey will be hanged on December 15th. Casey on being sentenced protested innocence. After Casey's sentence, Myles Joyce was arraigned for the murder of the old woman, the mother of John Joyce. Mr. Malley, one of the counsel for defense applied for a postparement of John Joyce. Mr. Mailey, one of the counsel for defense, applied for a postponement of the trial of Joyce, because indignation was aroused and the publication of the evidence in the preceding case was calculated to prejudice the jury and prevent a fair trial. The attorney general opposed the motion, and commended the public press for the weapper, in which, it has acted c press for the manner in which it has acted connection with these trials. The appli-tion for postponement was refused. Mr. llley then challenged the jurors on the ground that they did not stand indifferently between the crown and the prisoner. It is stated that an informer has communicated to the government full particulars of the mur-der of the two Huddys, Lord Ardilanser's bailiffs, whose bodies were found in Lough Mask. PENSACOLA'S LAST FEVER DAYS.

Departure of Judge Olin and the Georgia Nurses pecial to the Constitution.

Pansacola, November 17.-No new cases of yellow fever were reported to the board of health to-day. It is supposed that the physicians have tacitly agreed to suspend their reports, as several cases are known to have occurred, all of which are doing well. The trains resumed their regular trips last night. Many of those who fled from the fever have returned during the past twentyfour hours, a fact which causes some alarm. Judge Olin, of Augusta, Ga., who has made many friends by his kind attention to the ick during the epidemic, accompanied by Mr. Taliaferro and Mrs. Reynolds, volunteer nurses of great experience from the same place left for their homes last night. Most of the Mo-bile nurses and several from New Orleans have taken their departure. Dr. Ross was called to-night to Malino to visit a suspicious case reported at that place. The weather is again warm. Thus far the frosts have not perceptibly affected vegetation. The steamer Mary Morgan arrived this morning from Mobile and will return to-morrow.

IN MEMORIAM.

The special order at the hour of twelve was the exercises in respect to the memory of Hon. W. W. Singleton, member elect of the present house from Marion county, who died on the 19th of October. The resolutions on his death were read by the clerk. In moving the adoption of the resolutions Mr. Wright, of Floyd, said.

Floyd, said:

Mr. Speaker: I never met Mr. Singleton. What I learned of him from those who did know him is embodied in the resolutions before this house. In all the relations of life, as son, friend, a member of society and the church of God, his virtues were many, his faults few. Truly it may be said of him, "none knew him but to love him. none saw him but to praise." It is sad, Mr. Speaker for one so brave, so eloquent and so true, in the spingtime of life, with future glowing, with 'high hope and splendid promise "to lay him down and die." It is sad to the friends, the tendrels of whose hearts clustered fondly around him—sad to his country, in whos services he had just enlisted, whose history he rromised to adorn, whose genius he nobly illus traited.

Mr. Speaker, it is the lot of all men to die—we bow in humble submission to the will of God, but we may rest assured that He who took William Singleton from home and friends and country, bore him aloft to a land of light and beauty beyond the stars. We know this, because the end of a brave man, a true man and a gentleman is Heaven.

my eloquent and distinguished friend, Mr. DuPree of Macon.

Mr. Russell, of Clarke, said:

Mr. Speaker and fellow members.—We meet to day to mourn the loss of one who was elected a member of our body—the chosen representatives of a free people—here at the capitol of a great state to burn sweet incense to his memory. As the youngest member of this body I ask leave to pay my small tribute to the memory of one still younger, who has passed away. Death, Mr. Speaker, ever the saddest human event, is most awful when youth and promise is the subject of his triumph. We follow slowly and hushed to their last resting place the honored remains of age and distinction. We gather silently, sadly, round the couch to catch the last word as it falls from the quivering lips—to remember it forever. We gaze upon the pale form and sunken eyes and think with pride of what has been. And when the hands have been crossed for the last time, when the last clod has fallen harshly upon the grave, we indeed mourn, but in our sorrow feel that, like the well-ripe golden grain, the honored one has in due season been gathered to the garner of the just made perfect. But when death's dread sickle strikes a young man, just entering upon a career, how sad the spectacle; when the usefulness of a promising life is thus early stopped, when the bouyant beatings of a heart, brave and able for its country's service, are so ruthlessly hushed, and the tongue that spoke so well and when the bouyant beatings of a heart, brave and able for its country's service, are so ruthlessly hushed, and the tongue that spoke so well and knew no deceit is stilled forever. Will W. Singleton was barely twenty-one when elected to this body. By the dint of his own exertions he achieved success—unaided by hereditary influence or political intriguing, without a college education and in despite of poverty he became a successful journalist, a well educated man and when searcely he had reached his majority as a tribute to his worth and in token of trust was chosen as the representative of eight thousand people. He was a glowing i'lustration of that democratic principle that—

"He nor and fame from no condition rise."

His intrinsic worth gave proof that

His intriusic worth gave proof that Goodness is greatness in itself
It rests not on externals or derives its worth

"Goodness is greatness in Itself
It rests not on externals or derives its worth
From gorgeo s pomp or getting pelf
On chance of arms or accident of birth.
It lays its foundations in the soul
And piles a tower of glory to the skies
Around whose pinnacic majestic role
The clouds of glory starred with angel eyes."
But while "Stone urn and animated bust back to its mansion can not call the fleeting dust," he still lives in the example he set—lives in the lowe of his people—who honored him and knew him best.
No monument as yet marks his new-made, youth ful grave. But he has reared for his remembrance, in the hearts of his fellow-men, the monument of his good works. Pure, spotless, unsullied by any wrong, I see it lift its snowy column. It is true it rests upon the earth where lies, in its last long slumber, his youthful form, but it points ever upward, upward to the great white throne. This monument we now sadly, reverently approach, and while we lay over it the sombre drapery of our grief, bind its snowy whiteness with the pure flowers of our friendly affection.
In ancient Grecian temples, in gilded niches, were placed the images of their gods, which pious, loving hands daily festooned and decked with garlands. In memory's halls, too, there are niches, and when in after years the mind goes backward through those long drawn aisles in one of the fairest niches, wreathed with the never-fading love of all who knew him, will be seen the pure young image of Will W. Singleton.

Mr. Dupree of Macon, in an eloquent tribute, portrayed the virtues of the deceased member, who passed away just as he had entered upon the career of manhood. He was nominated before he was of age, and while lying on a bed of pain and death he was elected to this house. He was the editor and

Mr. Rounand the president appointed on the part of the senate Messrs Parks, Polhill and Living-ston. The senate adjourned to meet at ten tree, of Brooks, paid a feeling tribute to the memory of the deceased. Mr. Shipp, of Chat-tahoochee, said he had known Mr. Singleton well, and bore testimony to his many virtues and his marked ability. He was loved by his and his marked ability. He was loved by his people, and his death left a gloom such as never before been seen in the old county of Marion. Mr. Johnston, of Baldwin, moved the adoption of the resolutions. They were adopted by a unanimous rising vote, and in honor of the deceased the house adjourned to 10 o'clock Monday.

LAWRENCEVILLE, November 17-A few days ago a man calling himself Garland came to the house of Mr. Waiters', who lives near Lawrenceville, and asked for board for two or three days. He gave no account of himself and seemed to desire to be very quiet. It was noticed by some of the neighbors that he had a large amount of gold about his person est. mated by some at half a hat full. Suspicions were aroused as to his being a refugee from justice, and at length, through means that connot now be made public, it was discovered that he had probably been connected with the robbery of Mr. Brandenburg, which oc-curred in Meriwether county on the night of the 9th. The particulars of the robbery were published at the time. About 8 o'clock on the night in question two masked men went Mr. Brandenburg's house and set his bon fire. When he went out to extin guish the fire they entered his house and shot at his wife and niece, and seized his trunk, containing one thousand dollars in money, and bonds to the amount of $5,000. The bonds are described as follows: One United bonds are described as follows: One United States 4 per cent. of 1907, No. 55,805, $1,000. One Georgia 7 per cent. first mortgage bond, W. and A. railroad, payable in 1866, and No. 109 for $1,000. One Georgia railroad bond 6 per cent., No. 1709, and due in 1910, issued January 1st, 1881, $1,000. One Georgia railroad bond 6 per cent., No. 772, issued July 2d, 1897, due 1896, $1,000. The man was arrested last night and brought to jail. After making several contradictory statements he said that if Sheriff Patterson would furnish him with f Sheriff Patterson would furnish him with some morphine he would tell him all he knew about the robbery. When the sheriff returned with the morphine he stated that if would take him into the woods where he had hid the gold he would give him $200 if he would take his shackles off and release bim. Of course Mr. Pat-terson refused this. A dispatch was sent to the police in Griffin and they rereplied, "Hold J. L. Furguson,"

A WORD TO OUR READERS When you read of a medicine that will cure all diseases, beware of it, for every scientific physician on earth knows how fallacious such statements are. But when you read of a medicine compounded by a regular physician and surgeon of high standing that claims to cure only a certain disease, and finishes high proof that it does this, you can make yry it, and with the assurance that it will cure you. DR. V. R. STONE, late physician and surgeon of the U. S. A., has placed before the public a preparation called which no doubt is the greatest scientific preparation yet discovered for the cure of dyspepaia in all its forms, and refers to thousands of ladies and genthemen of the highest respectability that have been cured of cases pronounced incurable by the best physicians in the country. The tollowing references should be sufficient to convince the most sceptical:

The United States spend $4,000,000 a year upon

Says Pennsylvania, on all ner state documents. The key-stone state means that there is an irrepressible conflict between tyranny and freedom, and one or the other must succumb. So there is between health and disease. Every force that fights successfully against disease should be heartily welformed. Such a force—a host in itself—is Hunt's Remedy, and its special line of attack is against kidney and liver diseases, over which itachieves a wonderful triumph. If you have bodily weakness, an aching back, a general sense of weariness or inertia, or dropsical symptoms; if the kidneys or liver are deranged, there is no such medicine as Hunt's Remedy. It gives notice to all such diseases to quit. Pennsylvania is right; both Hunt's Remedy and these diseases can't survive, and it is they that are conquered.

THE current talk in the eastern papers relative to the dangers of electing a western or southern man to the speakership, is all moon shine. It is a part of Mr. Randall's boom and nothing more. The elevation of Mr. Kerr to the speakership was followed by the election of Mr. Tilden to the presidency, and Mr. Kerr was a free-trader. He put Mr. Morrison, an avowed free-trader, at the head of the ways and means committee, and neither the country nor the party was any the worse off on account of it.

Between the royalists, who seek to bring in a pretender, and the socialists, who prefer anarchy to anything else, the republic of France is not free of unrest. The government does not, however, fear either set of agitators. The peasantry of the country are at its back, and while this is so it cannot be overturned. The peasantry of France is now its backbone. It is made up of industrious, sensible, money-saving, patriotic men. The increase in intelligence in the country since the republic was established is something remarkable, and the hope of the country is found in the conservatism and hard sense of this class of its people.

THE pension agents are busily engaged in circulating petitions for a new raid on the treasury. Under the existing law applicants whose claims have been filed for the first time within the last two years are not entitled to arrears. The new petitions are started to get this restriction removed, and it is esti mated that a good portion of the million who have not filed claims would do so. This would double the present enormous outgo on account of pensions, and prevent any material reduction, much less a repeal, of the internal revenue law. Southern members should have sense and courage enough to resist the proposed attack upon the treasury of pension agents and fraudulent claimants.

THE SECOND SESSION.

An immense amount of unfinished business awaits the action of congress. There are bills pending to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, a matter of wide interest, and in some sections considered almost indispensable. There is also a proposition to regulate and reform the civil service. The question of regulating commerce between the states-in other words, to regulate the railroads-is also ready and so is the bill to aid public education by devoting at least the net proceeds of the sales of public lands to that purpose. Bills for the regulation of the electoral count are also pending, and there is scarcely a thoughtful man in the country who does not desire legislation that will render impossible a repetition of the dangerous complications that followed the election of 1876. Then there are bills to limit the coinage of silver dollars, to give relief to the supreme court, to regulate the removal of causes from state to federal courts, relative to the condition of American shipping, and very many others of deep and popular interest, There are 200 senate bills now lying on the speaker's table, and the house has before it fully 500 that have been reported favorably. Back of these bills are thousands that are in the hands of the committees. The republican papers do not urge the pas sage of any of these bills. They seem even to have forgotten the regular appropriation bills. They want nothing now except measures calculated to atone for the action or nonaction of the last cession. They want that will save "the grand old These bills be (1) a reduction and almost abolition of internal taxation; (2) a simplification of the tariff, and (3) a plausible civil-service measure. They propose to reduce taxation without reducing the appropriations, and to regulate the tariff without giving the people any material relief. Their measures are bogus measures. They are thinking of their party and not of the general good. The minority in congress is strong enough to see that any measures which are adopted are in the interest of the people, and the contortions of the republicans at this juncture are better calculated to excite derision than alarm.

THE DUTY OF CITIZENS.

In a few weeks the municipal election will occur. It is an election which, although important interests are at stake, a great many citizens generally allow to go by default. And yet, after the election is over, those who tailed to register are generally the first to complain and criticize the mistakes of a new administration. There is large room for reform just here. The selection of a city government is of more vital importance to the property-owners and tax-payers of Atlanta than the election of president. The interests of Atlanta and her people are vast, complicated and important, and it is absolutely essential that the management of these interests should be placed in the hands of only the best men.

How can this be done if the election is to be abandoned to those who possess the right to vôte, but who have little or no interest in results? Criticism after an election is over amounts to nothing; complaints are worse than useless; regrets are vain. There is but one way to secure good city government. Let those who are interested in securing it go and reforms are needed, this is the way to bring it about; if good government is necessary to the prosperity of the city, this is the way to get it.

It is absurd for men who neglect to register, and thus lose their votes, to engage in complaint or criticism in regard to the city government. The only effective criticism is that active sort which prompts a citizen to register, and to give a little of his time and influence to securing the election of men worthy of the great responsibilities attached to the trust reposed in those who are selected to manage the complicated interests of a growing city.

The registration books are now open, and it is the duty of every citizen to take this preliminary step toward the selection of those who are to have practical charge of the property interests of the city. If those who are most vitally interested in the economical administration of our municipal affairs would do their duty-if they would act in concert. having nothing in view but their own and the city's interests-there would be no further complaint in regard to the methods employed in the management of municipal affairs. They would find behind them a public sentiment which would be practically irresistible. There is already a community of interests-let there be a community of action, so to speak. Then there will be no difficulty in securing good city government. But for fear that community of action is impossible, let there be individual action. Let every citizen register so as to be ready to vote for the best men.

EDITOR MARTIN, of Rome, is of the opinion that here is a combination between Brown, Colquitt and Stephens. Editor Martin is correct. The com pination between them extends to the people of Georgia, and it is called the democratic organization. It is a combination that exists for the good of the state, and the people have deliberately elevated these men to positions of influence so that hey may be able to lend their time and their talents to furthering the aims of democracy

"THE democrats," says the Augusta Chronicle, 'may not make a clean sweep of the house employes is the republicans did of the democrats." Yes here is no earthly reason why they shouldn't. It is in the direction of reform to remove republican partisans and put in competent democrats

SENATOR COLQUITT AND THE SHORT

TERM. We have had frequent occasion to expose the reckless charges against Senator Colquitt, but never one more reckless or unfounded than the tory telegraphed from here to the effect that the night before the election he "sold out" young en Hill for the short term.

Let us look at the record on this point. On the second day Mr. Hill gained only two vote -Messrs. Hudson of Webster and Wilson of McIntosh. Both of these were Colquitt votes. He lost only two Colquitt votes-Messrs. Fite and Lott. Mr. Fite voted against Mr. Hill because of personal relations to Mr. Barrew, and Mr. Lott, or reasons of his own. It is true that Moor are held to of Hancock and Cox, who were Hill and Colon the second: but they also voted against Governo Colquitt, so he certainly could not have influence em to vote against Hill. The record shows, therefore, that Hill gained two olquitt votes and lost two Colquitt votes on the second ballot. His total net loss was made from the anti-Colquitt ranks, embracing such men as Sutton, Stoddard, Robertson, etc. In the face of these facts, how utterly unfounded is the charge that the night before the last ballot, "Governor Colquitt sold Mr. Hill out." It is proper to say that Mr. Hill himself deprecates any such assertion and says it i Governor Colquitt's attitude to Mr. Hill cannot nisunderstood. When the petition to appoint Mr. Hill was presented to him, hough it came from his opponents, he determined to appoint Mr. Hill to the vacancy end adhered to this re olution to the very last, in spite of all opposition, going to Hill's house the night before his letter was published, to offer it to him in person. All through the race the governor did not hesitate to urge Mr. Hill's election, although warned that in doing so he endangered his own Of his friends nearly seventy voted for Mr. Hill while hardly half as many voted for Mr. Barrow He cannot be blamed for the action of those of friends who voted against Hill, for while Mr. Hill earnestly favored Governor Colquitt's election every one of his most devoted friends, viz-Hughes Eason, Oliver, Winningham, Humber and Jones voted against Governor Colquitt. No one doubts Mr. Hill's sincerity, because all of those friend voted against Colquitt. Much less can they doub Colquitt, because one-third of his friends voted against Hill. Still less can it be charged that he sold Ben Hill out the night before the election when the record shows Hill gained two Colquit votes and lost two-making his entire net loss in the anti-Colquitt ranks.

To make it still plainer. The votes that changed to Colquitt on the second day that did not vote for him on the first were Cannon, Julian, Hudson Wilder, Wimberly, Wilson, Davis, Yow, Guyton Winningham, Jones of De Kalb, Geer, Norman register and then vote for the best man. If gains, only two men changed their votes on the Hill-Barrow contest-and both of these men, Hud son and Wilson, changed from Barrow to Hill I While it is possible that either Governor Colquit or Mr. Hill would have made a better race, if they had been unembarrassed by the other race, and while there was no sort of obligation or understand ing between them as to the campaign, there is no ground for saying that either was untrue to th other, or that either sold the other out. Such a charge could do little now if it were true. Being entirely unfounded it can certainly do nothing bu

Information comes that the grossest frauds wer perpetrated at the late election in Georgia, notwithtanding the fact that the state is overwhelmingly lemocratic. The party managers have got used to the business, and it seems to have become such a mania with them that they cannot stop it. Burke county is given as a sample of how things were conducted. A tkins, republican for congress, got nearly 500 msjority at four of the sixteen precincts of the county that were opened. The other twelve precincts, it is stated, were not opened for fear that he would get such a large vote that his msjorities could not be overcome. A FILET of beef, larded, is declared to be out of fashion. The idea of fashion regulating what we eat!

LETTUCE, tomato, celery, chicory, chicken lobster, shrimp and sardine salads are enumerated on the bill of fare of one of the fashionable hotels

BRILLAT-SAVERIN stated that truffles are no indigestible, but that some people, who, from gross habits or selfish gluttony, eat them too fast, suffer from indigestion.

In several of the Parisian restaurants the common nettle has been introduced, and does cuty with spinach, sorrel, chicory, etc. As a ragout it is said to be capital. That high gastronomic authority, the London Caterer, has come to the conclusion that the process of egg and breadcrumbing fish is too often abused by modern cooks.

Fastibious gourmets have been shocked by a London magazine which says that although the turtle is essentially a vegetable feeder, it does not despise a meal of human remains.

HERR OLDEN, a celebrated eulogist of the truffle, boldly asserts that, ever since the discovery of this toothsome tuber, it has been beloved of poets and musicians above all other comestibles.

WHAT next? M. Lemaine has reported to the Paris Academy of Science that the consumption of game in a condition known as "high" poses the partaker to the risk of blood-poisoning. In an article on the breakfast tables of all nations a well-known writer says: "There is a de lightful originality about the average American breakfast table tempered in households under the gentle sway of a cultured woman by a refined taste." And what can be more delightful than that? ÆSTHETIC menu and guests' cards are the latest. They are of English origin and charmingly artistic and attractive. The cards are tinted in various shades and ornamented with embossed repre-sentations of the sunflower, lily, daffodil, poppy, cornflower and other emblems "distinctly precious" to the æsthetic school. Some New Yorkers of means and leisure traveling in the west had a dinner in Denver the other day composed of bear's meat. The accom plished chief who prepared the novel feast served the meat in eight different styles, and the entre was so fine that $50 was paid by one of the company or the receipe A COUPLE from the country of Milesian extraction dined table d'hote the other day, and opposite was a young man who took a stalk of celery from the dish and commenced eating it. The old lady looked at him a moment with an air of dis-gust, and then nudging her husband said, in a stage whisper: "D'ye moind ther blackguard atin' ther bokay?"

From the Providence Journal. There is nothing to make the annual fall of N

rember meteors of special importance at its present of occurrence, excepting the fact that everything connected with the history and constitution of comets and meteors is now a popular theme for astronomical study, on account of the universal interest awakened by the unexpected visit of the great comet of 1882. On the 12th, 13th and 14th of Noember the earth plows her way through the November meteor zone. This is an imrevolving around hoop or eclipse the sun, its perihelion resting on the earth's orbit, and its aphelion extending beyond the orbit of Uranus When the earth meets this November meteor zone la November, many struggling meteoroids impinge against her atmosphere, and being ig-nited by the tremendous force, descend as shooting stars to the earth. At common times the number of November meteors falling to the earth is inconsiderable, for they are as yet sparsely scattered through the zone. But once in thirty-three years and a quarter the earth encounters the thickest portion of the swarm, and the meteors then descend in a rain of fire that forms one of the most superb displays the leavens present. Those who live until 1899 may cent scene. For a long time no one could und stand the reason for the grand meteoric occasionally. But the cause is now clear as ight. It was discovered that a telescopic known as Temple's comet, moved in the same with the meteors and that the meteors were the comet's tail breaking into fragments. The cess of disintegration has only advanced far end to fill densely about one-fifteenth of the mete orbit. When its revolution of thirty-three and quarter years is accomplished, the earth plunge pell mell into the vapory nucleus of the comet, and the dense meteor swarm into which its tail is being transformed while shooting stars cover the sky like fiery clouds, and descend like a fall of snow.

It is supposed we are indebted to the planet Uranus for this erratic member of the system. About the year 126 of the Christian era, Temple's comet chanced to come in the way of the planet. He chanced to come in the way of the planet. He seized the prize remorselessly chanced its orbit to an elipse, and has compelled it ever since to revolve in an orbit marked out by his attractive force. Thousands of years hence the meteors will be scattered evenly through the whole zone, and then there will be an annual fall worth looking for, as in the case of the August meteors, while the grand periodic displays will no longer be visible. The astronomers of those days will, perhaps, delight their eyes with similar displays, from the splitting up of other comets caught in the same net. We cannot, therefore, anticipate anything brilliant in the line of failing stars on the nights of the 12th, 13th, and 11th. But it is well to keep diligent watch, for nothing is more uncertain than the proceedings of these tiny atoms that fill interstellar space, and the coming November shower may bring an unexpected downfall.

The radiant point of the November meteors is i The radiant point of the November mereors is in the constellation Leo, and for this reason they are called Leonids. Starting from this point, they make their way in every possible direction over the sky. The best time for observation—though stragelers may be picked up any time after the darkness reigns over the land—is about three o'clock in the isitors will be most tikely to make their appear nee. Those who rise at this early hour may hop or a double enjoyment, for the comet spreads ou us silvery train net very far from the radiant poin of the Leonids, and some of the falling stars wil be likely to encroach upon its domain.

ADVICE TO A YOUNG MAN.

From the Burlington Hawkeye. Telemachus, it will do you ever so much good, i very once in a while you will go away by yourse for an hour or two, and get real well acquainted with yourself. "As a man thinketh, so is he." And ou will never "know thyself ' thoroughly, unles ow and then you get alone and sit down and talk o yourself, cross-examine yourself: learn what you mow; what are your ambitions, your aims, your hopes; what is your real character, because, my dear boy, your reputation may be one thing and our character quite mother. Som t does happen, in this faulty old that a really good man, a man whose above bear the reputation of a rascal, and once in a while wo or three times in a while, in fact, a rascal wear he stolen reputation of an honest man. Go away ow and then, my boy, and sit down all by yoursen and think. Think of nothing under the sun but yourself. Yes, I know, my son, there are men who ever think of anything else, and God never made more useless men, but that is because they do all their thinking about themselves publicly and loud. They never think alone. You will be honest with yourself when you ar alone, my boy. A man is apt to be honest with himself in the dark. He does not pose in heroic postures when he has no audience. When he stands face to face with himself, with no human eye to watch him, and no human ear to listen to eye to watch him, and no human ear to listen to his confession, and only his Maker who knows every secret motive and thought of his life, to see and to listen, a man has to be honest. How could he be a hypocrite then? Why, my boy, I sometimes think that when the "two men went up into the temple to pray," the pharisee was partly led to pray as he did, because he prayed for an audience; to the congregation, rather than to God. He had his position in society and in the synagogue to maintain, and he wanted every man who heard that prayer to know just what kind of a man he was and how good he was and so he told all the good things about himself that he knew. "I am not as other men are—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or leven as this publican." But the poor publican, "standing afar off"—ah, that was what made him honest; he was away from the crowd; nobody could hear him; he was alone with God; the omnipotent and omnicient, who knew the secret heart of the publican better than the poor man knew it himself, and knowing this, standing face—to face with himself, he had to be honest; he saw and he knew how weak and faulty he was; how marred was all his life with hight promises and poor, broken, incomplete fulfillment, and as he faced himself and been and was, he could not and "would not so much as lift up his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast" and from his penitent heart and quivering lips broke the old prayer; the cry for mercy that has welled up from human hearts ever since, echoing the walling cry of the poor man who stood afar off: "God be merciful to me, a sinner." his confession, and only his Maker who knows ev quivering hips broke the old prayer; the cry for mercy that has welled up from human hearts ever since, echoing the wailing cry of the poor man who stood afar off: "God be merc'ful to me, a sinner."

Get away from the crowd a little while every day, my boy. Stand one side and let the world run by, while you get acquainted with yourself, and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself hard cuestions about yourself, find out all you can about yourself. Ascertain from original sources if you are really the manner of man people say you are. Find out if you are always honest; if you always tell the square, perfect truth in business deals: if your life is as good and upright at II o'clock at night as it is at noon: if you are as sound a temperance man on a fishing expedition as you are at a Sunday-school picnic, if you are as good a boy when you go to Chicago as you are at home; if, in short you really are the sort of young man your father hopes you are, your mother says you are, and your hopes you are, your mother says you are, and your sweetheart believes you are. Get on intimate terms with yourself, my boy, and, believe me, every time you come out from one of those private interview you will be a better, stronger, purer man. Don, forget this, Telemachus, and it will do you good.

THE TICKER.

Rufus Hatch, in the Hour. Every day, when down town, I talk to scores nen in offices, banking-rooms and hotels. Every now and then they walk quickly away from me to the little machine known as the stock "ticker." Picking up the tape they glance anxiously over it come back in a half-forgetful way and resume the conversation, although I see plainly they are thinking more of the tape than of the talk, and the machine goes on with its attling, whirring, clicking, nervous "tick this ticker "tick." What is The machine is of little consequence, but the tally it keeps is a wonderful one. An Elevator Accident.

Louisville, November 17.—To-day the passenger elevator in McKnight's carpet house, on New street, containing five passengers, fell from the second floor to the basement, seriously injuring four of the passengers and painfully wounding the fifth. Their names are Captain W. C. Hite, of Louisville, compound fracture of the left leg and simple fracture of the right leg; Captain John Howard, of Jeffersonville, small bone of the left leg and right ankle fractured; Judge B. F. Biard, of Hardensburg, F. sckinridge county, Kentucky, painfully braned—no bones were found broken; C. F. Turner, salesman with McKnight, badly bruised, and Dyer, another salesman, ankle joint fractured.

Big men are spraining their ankles as they try to catch the moving train. Babies will get their little thumbs caught in the doors. Bruised shins, dislocated joints and mashed fingers constantly remind us that accidents may take place at any moment. THE COTTON MARKET

CONSTITUTION OFFICE. Atlanta. November 17 1882.

New York-For the past few days the cotton maket has shown more buoyancy in feeling, and the unintercupted decline of the past eight weeks has been rather unexpectedly brought to a close Whether the market has at last found botton can not at present be known, but the persistent down fall of quotations has been retarded, and the general aspect of the market is decidedly more encouraging than at any time within the past two months At all events, prices cannot go much lower. Already cotton is below a legitimate range, and it must take a very heavy crop yield to necessitate any lower figures. The foreign demand is unusually brisk, and the enormous receipts are being rapidly sent away to fill up the emptiness in the east. The upward movement of the cotton market has a very looking for higher prices will begin to turn loose should the market take a permenent stand and move upwards. As to the probable crop yield, there is a great diversity of opinion and estimates are placed at 5,800,000 bales to 7,000,000 bales, though the extremes in either direction are barely probable. To-day futures ruled steady and closed at prices ranging from 15@30 points over the prices of one week ago. Spots are steady at 101/2c for middling, showing an advance of 1-16c for the week.

ton by sample without license. The case ll be heard next Wednesday. There is a in Atlanta which prohibits dealers from ling by sample without license, but does to apply to producers.

REAL ESTATE AFFAIRS.

Two big auction sales of real estate are poked for next week. Mr. T. M. Goodson has begun building his me cottages on Fraser street. Harte & Parrott's new warehouse on Forsyth street will be ready for the storage of cotton by the first of next month.

One architect in Atlanta is now engaged one hundred and six designs for handsome nek residences to be built next spring.

Mrs. Eliza Bowman sold, day before yesterday, her residence on East Peters street to a Covington, Kentucky, gentleman, for $3,500. Real estate agents claim that land has now reached its lowest value, and that a big increasa may be expected within the next few

Mr. R. H. Knapp is now corresponding with New York capitalists, who express a desire to buy five thousand acres of timber land

A. Haygood, leader.

A Reported Failure.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency will to day publish to its patrons in this section the name of J. H. Cowsart & Co., at Hamil-ton, Ga. The liabilities and assets of the firm are yet unknown to the agency.

A Live Law Firm.

Messrs. Haygood and Martin, who were elected attorneys for the Mutual Loan and Building association last night are well worthy of the trust. They are able and energetic gentlemen and are thoroughly reliable.

The Superior Court,

In the superior court yesterday, Judge Hill-yer presiding, a consent verdict was given Winnaford Murphy vs. Hannah Murphey. The case of Abi Mimms vs. Cincinnati and Georgia railroad, was taken up and occupied the day but was not concluded Burglarizing a Residence.

About dark last night a burglar entered Mrs. Parker's residence, 91 Butler street, and stole a pocket book containing a few dollars in coin, a gold breast pin, oval shape, and a pair of gloves. The thief escaped without attracting the attention of the family.

Before the Commissioners.

In the commissioner's court of W. B. Smith the following cases were disposed of yesterday: Oscar Holmes and R. A. Killian, violating the elective franchise, discharged; Andrew Harris, of Atlanta, retailing whisky in violation of law, discharged; William Jackson, of Campbell county, retailing whisky in violation of law, bond required.

A Broken Arm.

About one o'clock yesterday afternoon a Mr. Howard, who restdes about ten miles from the city, on the McDonough road, crossed the railroad track at Whitehall street with a road wagon drawn by a mule. Just as the wagon wagon drawn by a mule. Just as the wagon cleared the track an engine came puffing along and so frightened the mule that he ran away. Mr. Howell was thrown from the wagon and in falling broke his right arm below the elbow. The fracture was reduced by a physician who witnessed the accident, and Mr. Howell started for his better.

Sale of Government Property.

Colonel C. A. Reynolds, of the United States army, whose headquarters is in Atlanta, returned yesterday from Chattanooga, where he went a few days ago to superintend the sale of the old buildings used at one time as an army barracks. The ground upon which the buildings were located belongs to the government and was not put upon the block. Nineteen buildings were sold to the highest bidder for an aggregate of $883. One of the best buildings was reserved as a home for the widow of Lieutenant Mc-Intyre, who was killed a few years ago by moonshiners in Pickens county.

A Horse With a Broken Leg. A horse with a broken leg attracted a good deal of attention on Fair street yesterday.

The animal belonged to a Mr. Hamilton, who was out driving when the accident which resulted in the fatal injury to the horse occurred.

Hamilton was driven.

ing quietly along Fair street when the animal suddenly dashed off at full speed. As he ran he kicked until one of his hind legs became entangled in a front wheel of the buggy. This made the animal plunge herder until his leg was broken. The injury was so great that the horse was afrerwards killed to prevent further suffering. By the killing Mr. Hamilton is out $200.

THE GRAND JURY.

What the Body Has Found in the Investigation of the County Affairs.

The grand jury was discharged by Judge Hillyer day before yesterday after several weeks of labor. The usual presentments contain some facts of interest to the public. The roads are reported in a fair condition, and the jail is pronounced clean and well kept, and the prison fare is said to be all that is necessary both in quantity and quality. The poor house is condemned in strong terms and the body suggests that it be sold out and a more suitable place he secured nearer the city where chari-There will not be one half the amount of real estate on the market this spring that there was last spring, so say the best posted real estate agents.

Yesterday morning Chief Connolly received telegram from Clarkesville, Georgia, signed y Martha Yarwood, asking for the detention of Maggie Yarwood who was supposed to be a passenger aboard the Air-Line train due here at one o'clock in the afternoon. The telegram also stated that Miss Maggie, of whom a careful description was wired the chief of police, was running away from home. Immediately after the receipt of the message the chief detailed two men to watch upon the arrival of the train, and when the engine came to a halt in the union depot and the passengers began to leave the coaches the offieers found no trouble in securing the lady so cers found no trouble in securing the lady so accurately did her appearance tally with the description. But a description was hardly necessary, for when the officers asked her name she replied without any hesitanay, "Maggie Yarwood." She was then escorted to police headquarters and shown the telegraph. ram. When informed that she must return her mother, she burst into tears and plead to her mother, she burst into tears and plead to be permitted to stay in Atlanta. Her strange manner and her strong pleading in-duced the chief of police to ask for her reasons, and when she had completed her recital her prayer was granted. "As you know," she began, "my name is Maggie Yar-wood and my home is at Clarksville. I am sixteen vers of age and so, my hands show sixteen years of age and as my hands show am used to labor. I came to Atlanta to make am used to labor. I came to Atlanta to make my living and for that purpose I am going to stay here. My father and mother have been separated for years and that separation was caused by my mother's conduct. She was too fond of other people and has often tried to get me to follow in her tootsteps but I have steadily refused. Recently she has been so persistent in her efforts to accomplish my ruin that I left home and here I has been so persistent in her emorts to accomplish my ruin that I left home, and here I am. I do not want to go back, and I am not going back. I want a chance to make a living, and if you will let me stay here I will show you that I mean what I say."

Her story was told in a plain, straightforward manner, which carried conviction with the stay is decidedly practice and is evidently.

ward manner, which carried conviction with it. She is decidedly pretty, and is evidently in earnest about trying to live by her own exertions. She has a round face, with red cheeks and golden hair, and talks in a pleasant, even tone. A Matter of Much Importance. That the longerity of the human race is growing shorter with each decade, and their physical development degenerating, no one who will reflect can doubt. Those who are who will reflect can doubt. Those who are inclined to question the assertion have simply to look at the frame of their grandfather or grandmother which yet, though bowed with age, shows traces of a perfect form during the summer of life. Where to-day can you find the atalete of fifty years ago, or the perfect form of that time.

form of that time. To the inquiring mind the observation is a sad one, and we are led to ask the reason: It cannot possibly be that the body is suffering from the development of the mind, which has made strides in the last half century that omnipotence itself must almost regard with Nature is perfect in all her laws, and the very reason of the degeneracy alluded to is traceable to our overweening arrogance. We have lost sight of the teachings of the simple mother which our forefathers followed im-plicitly. We have endeavored to make SCIENCE do nature's work, and thus we suffer the consequence. That diseases of the blood, both of a hereditary and constitutional nature, are increasing alarmingly no one doubts, and with all our boasted scientific knowledge, will continue to increase unless we heed the warning, pluck from the bosom of nature remedies which the wise creator there planted for the ills of the flesh, especially of the blood. Clearly diseases of a blood origin are almost innumerable, yet how simple the cure?

almost innumerable, yet how simple the cure? Vegetable remedies are easily absorbed into the circulation, and thus through the blood permeate every part of the body.

Preparations of a chemical nature do not do this, they are simply palliatives. S. S. being composed entirely of the most powerful vegetable alteratives, furnishes to the blood fresh power, and thus invigorates the entire frame. In this manner it cures the most horrid of all blood poisons—roots it out, eradicates mercury, cures Scrofula in all its forms, or any hereditary blood disease, Rheumatism, Eczema, Catarrh, Pimples, Boils, Blotches, Sores, makes the skin soft and smooth. Testimonial as to the efficacy of this remedy we can furnish from the most reliable and intelligent in the land. A prominent druggist of Georgia says: "Science has not made known a combination equal to S. S. S. in treatment of blood difease." A leading physician says: "The profession will have to acknowledge it a Specific."

A young man, who had been the victim of a most loathsome blood disease, says: "Years of intense suffering would have been saved me and I listened to the advice of friends and taken S. S. S. sooner. I am now well." He further adds: "It is a shame that human kind have to suffer from prejudice of physicians to any thing not laid down in texture.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE. At the expiration of Alderman Beermann's term of office, the south side of the railroad will have no immediate representative in will have no immediate representative in the aldermanic board, as there are two of the ones holding over from the north side. Justice demands that Alderman Beermann's successor should be from the south side of Allanta and they present the name of that old, tried public spirited citizen, Major John H. Mecaslin, as a suitable man to fill the place and one that will be supported by the whole people of Atlanta. whole people of Atlanta.
